ROTARY CLUB HEARS PASTOR

Rev. Lutz, of Amanda, Advises Members to Know
"The Other Man."

Rev. Lutz, of Amanda, talked before the Rotary club at its Thursday noon meeting at the Boggs hotel. Rev. Lutz chose as his subject "The Other Man-Know Him."

Rev. Lutz said: "Selfishness in the home is entirely out of place and selfishness in a community is a detriment to attain a common end. Wherever co-operation and unity exists, selfishness is driven out and no man can help another unless he helps himself."

We learn by experience, and our experiences in life in learning to know the other fellow shows us that no man, whoever or whatever he may be, but has some sterling qualities. All we need is time to find out. When we know the other fellow we find in him something worthy of our attention and our fellowship.

Then too, no man is big enough to stand alone and must look to the other fellow to hold and keep him. With our spirit of trust in him, we help him to grow better and we, ourselves, grow with him. Invitations were received by the club to attend the installation of new Rotary clubs at Gallipolis and Delaware, O.

Someone Spills Beans and Birds Have Fine Feast

Someone spilled the beans late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning—a whole bag of them—on W. Main-st., and all the birds that did not go to Florida for the winter were flying, sitting, hopping, or chirping around the spot where the sack had burst and the legumes were lying on the slippery pavement.

The snow and sleet of the last several days has made it difficult for the birds to find food, and they were "making no bones" about sitting in the middle of the sidewalk laying in supplies for over Sunday. The larger birds took first choice, but by the time the smaller birds had a chance the beans had swelled to twice their normal size. The birds that had served themselves first, until they could eat no more, looked enviously at the beans that were so much larger than at first, and which the sparrows were carrying quickly away.

Anyone who wishes to feed birds, will find this week one of the best in which to hang suet on the trees, or to sprinkle crumbs on the ice.

TWO ATTACKS ARE MADE ON ANDY MELLON

Cruiser Bill Sidetracked By Tax Refund and Dry Appropriation Issues.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The administration's fight to enact the new cruiser bill became involved in the senate today with skirmishes over prohibition enforcement and tax refunds, in connection with the first deficiency appropriation bill.

The supply measure carried a $75,000,000 appropriation for payment of refunded taxes and a $25,000,000 increase in prohibition enforcement funds. Both items have aroused considerable opposition, the insurgents charging the tax refunds were made secretly by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon while Mellon himself led the opposition to the increased dry appropriation.

DRYS CONFIDENT

The senate drays led by Senator Harris (D.) of Georgia, were confident of keeping the $25,000,000 item in the deficiency bill, despite Mellon's opposition. This little row threatened to assume considerable political importance, as it may alienate some of the dry Republican votes which will be necessary to confirm Mr. Mellon should the president-elect continue him in the next cabinet.

The tax refund matter was a direct anti-Mellon move, as the battle revolved around the McKellar bill, which proposes to strip Mellon of all power over tax refunds in excess of $10,000. Hereafter, Mellon has been the judge and jury of all tax refunds and credits, although his decisions were subject to review by the board of tax appeals.

Senator McKellar (D.) of Tennessee, proposes to turn original jurisdiction on all refunds above $10,000 over to the board of tax appeals. The senate judiciary committee has approved the bill.

HUGE REFUND TOTAL

"In six years the treasury has refunded $2,614,000,000, with all of the evidence kept secret," said McKellar. "This is more than the total cost of the Civil war on both sides. It is more than the total wealth of the whole state of Alabama, including every inch of real estate and every dollar of capital. It is more than the total wealth of Louisiana, including the great city of New Orleans. That one man should have such power does not make for good government. I am fighting such an ungodly system because these refunds and credits are rendered secretly and that is not Democratic government."

The refunds and credits, given out by the treasury department, it will be shown have totalled $3,317,804,000 since the war—about one-seventh the total cost of the World War to America. This sum almost equals the British debt, does equal the French debt and is double the Italian debt to the United States.

AL'S POSITION NOW MYSTERY

Defeated Presidential Nominee Asks All Democrats
For Contributions.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The position of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith with regard to the future leadership of the Democratic party remained a mystery today to many political observers who sought to find an answer to the question in his address over the radio last night. In a speech broadcast over 31 stations the Democrat who was defeated for the presidency last November urged the party to "continue the fight for Democratic principles," but did not reveal his own plans except to say that he would be heard on the radio from time to time.

Some observers, however, saw in the latter statement an indication that the former governor intended to remain in the political limelight.

Asserting that a militant party organization must be organized and that it must "stay on the job constantly instead of functioning only six months in four years," Smith advanced a plan to provide money for this purpose as well as to wipe out the $1,500,000 deficit in the Democratic party campaign fund. He asked for contributions from the rank and file and announced that for every contribution of $2 or more the Democratic national committee will send the donor a book containing copies of his campaign speeches.

To allow a small group of wealthy men to meet the deficit would place too much power in the hands of a few, the speaker warned.

PETITION TO COUNCIL NOW BEING SIGNED

Ordinance Authorizing Bond Issue For Project Passed
Wednesday Night.

While council was passing an ordinance Wednesday night authorizing the issuance of $75,000 in bonds for a municipal hospital, it became known that active efforts are being made to have the selection of the site reconsidered.

Expressed opposition to the Myers property on Northridge-rd as a hospital site took a concrete form Wednesday night when H. M. Crites appeared with a petition signed by 730 persons asking that council reconsider its decision as to the location of the hospital.

MORE SIGNERS EXPECTED

The petition was not formally presented, however, when councilmen pleaded the lateness of the hour as not giving them time to adequately consider it. The council meeting was more than an hour late getting underway.

Mr. Crites was not daunted by postponement of the petition's presentation, declaring that the document would have twice as many signers when council meets again.

The petition itself reviewed the reason why council should not choose the north side site, due to the lack of a sanitary sewer, and the many other reasons which have been placed before council numerous times.

FAVOR NILES SITE

Many persons are of the opinion the hospital should have been placed on the Niles site which was given to the city free of charge for a hospital. They feel council should not spend $4,000 for the purchase of the Myers site when a site has been donated.

Paul Adkins, city solicitor, gave a report to council on the title of the Myers property and read before council an opinion which had been prepared for the Myers' concerning the purchase of the site.

The petition, with more names, will probably make its debut before council at its next session, when they have time to read off the long list of names and receive it.

In the absence of John Goeller, sr., W. F. Baker, president pro tem, presided over council Wednesday evening.

BOOTH OUSTED AS S. A. HEAD

Daughter Evangeline Among Candidates To Succeed
Venerable Leader.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Commander Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army's forces in America, and Chief of Staff Higgins today were prominently mentioned as the choice of the high council which meets at Sunbury tomorrow to select a successor to General Bramwell Booth.

By a vote of 55 to 8, the high council early today declared the 72-year-old son of the founder of the organization unfit to continue as its commander-in-chief. The balloting was completed shortly after midnight following 14 hours of heated, secret debate.

High army officials stated emphatically today that there was no race for leadership among any of the members of the high council. As one official put it:

"Regardless of who is chosen, we will follow him wholeheartedly to lead the army to fresh victories." The consensus of opinion today was that the council's decision would result in a court battle over the huge funds of the army.

It is understood that the deposed leader's advisors believe that the council's action does not affect his capacity as trustee for the army's property, which is estimated to total about $100,000,000.

By the terms of the deed of foundation of the organization, the general is sole trustee of all the property and funds of the army. Every banking account of the army is in his name.

The senate early next week is expected to pass the Bender bill repealing the 1-2 per cent tax increase placed by the Ohio legislature two years ago upon gross premiums of foreign insurance companies operating in Ohio. The bill will then go to the house. It was reported out favorably by the senate taxation committee yesterday.

Before recessing, the senate adopted a memorial resolution, introduced by Sen. E. H. Hughes, Zanesville, relating to the death of late U. S. Senator Frank B. Willis, Delaware. The house adopted a memorial resolution, introduced by Rep. A. L. Reynolds, Orrville, relating to the death of Judge T. W. Orr who represented Wayne-co in the house here in the 85th and 86th general assemblies.

Sen. Allan G. Aigler, Bellevue, Republican floor leader, is scheduled to introduce next week a bill approved by Governor Myers Y. Cooper, providing for repeal of the Pence act regulating rates of public utilities.

New bills pending in the house provide for the death penalty and life imprisonment for robbers; a state board of barber examiners; decrees that a marriage license shall become void if marriage does not take place within 60 days from the date it is issued, and provides that five days must elapse between the date of issuance of a marriage license and the wedding ceremony.

MILK IS DESTROYED IN PRICE DISPUTE

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—War between producers and distributors Chicago's milk supply had assumed serious proportions today as a result of the seizure and destruction of 4,000 pounds of raw milk along country roads at Lake county late yesterday.

The milk was seized by 50 farmers who had picketed the highways leading to dairy plants at Gurnee and Waukegan. Seven dairymen were forced to surrender their trucks. The milk was poured into the snow.

AL'S POSITION NOW MYSTERY

Defeated Presidential Nominee Asks All Democrats For Contributions.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The position of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith with regard to the future leadership of the Democratic party remained a mystery today to many political observers who sought to find an answer to the question in his address over the radio last night. In a speech broadcast over 31 stations the Democrat who was defeated for the presidency last November urged the party to "continue the fight for Democratic principles," but did not reveal his own plans except to say that he would be heard on the radio from time to time.

Some observers, however, saw in the latter statement an indication that the former governor intended to remain in the political limelight.

Asserting that a militant party organization must be organized and that it must "stay on the job constantly instead of functioning only six months in four years," Smith advanced a plan to provide money for this purpose as well as to wipe out the $1,500,000 deficit in the Democratic party campaign fund. He asked for contributions from the rank and file and announced that for every contribution of $2 or more the Democratic national committee will send the donor a book containing copies of his campaign speeches.

To allow a small group of wealthy men to meet the deficit would place too much power in the hands of a few, the speaker warned.

PETITION TO COUNCIL NOW BEING SIGNED

Ordinance Authorizing Bond Issue For Project Passed Wednesday Night.

While council was passing an ordinance Wednesday night authorizing the issuance of $75,000 in bonds for a municipal hospital, it became known that active efforts are being made to have the selection of the site reconsidered.

Expressed opposition to the Myers property on Northridge-rd as a hospital site took a concrete form Wednesday night when H. M. Crites appeared with a petition signed by 730 persons asking that council reconsider its decision as to the location of the hospital.

MORE SIGNERS EXPECTED.
The petition was not formally presented, however, when councilmen pleaded the lateness of the hour as not giving them time to adequately consider it. The council meeting was more than an hour late getting underway.

Mr. Crites was not daunted by postponement of the petition's presentation, declaring that the document would have twice as many signers when council meets again.

The petition itself reviewed the reason why council should not choose the north side site, due to the lack of a sanitary sewer, and the many other reasons which have been placed before council numerous times.

FAVOR NILES SITE.
Many persons are of the opinion the hospital should have been placed on the Niles site which was given to the city free of charge for a hospital. They feel council should not spend $4,000 for the purchase of the Myers site when a site has been donated.

Paul Adkins, city solicitor, gave a report to council on the title of the Myers property and read before council an opinion which had been prepared for the Myers' concerning the purchase of the site.

The petition, with more names, will probably make its debut before council at its next session, when they have time to read off the long list of names and receive it.

In the absence of John Goeller, sr., W. F. Baker, president pro-tem, presided over council Wednesday evening.

BOOTH OUSTED AS S. A. HEAD

Daughter Evangeline Among Candidates To Succeed Venerable Leader.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Commander Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army's forces in America, and Chief of Staff Higgins today were prominently mentioned as the choice of the high council which meets at Sunbury tomorrow to select a successor to General Bramwell Booth.

By a vote of 55 to 8, the high council early today declared the 72-year-old son of the founder of the organization unfit to continue as its commander-in-chief. The balloting was completed shortly after midnight following 14 hours of heated, secret debate.

High army officials stated emphatically today that there was no race for leadership among any of the members of the high council. As one official put it:

"Regardless of who is chosen, we will follow him wholeheartedly to lead the army to fresh victories."

The consensus of opinion today was that the council's decision would result in a court battle over the huge funds of the army.

It is understood that the deposed leader's advisors believe that the council's action does not affect his capacity as trustee for the army's property, which is estimated to total about $100,000,000.

By the terms of the deed of foundation of the organization, the general is sole trustee of all the property and funds of the army. Every banking account of the army is in his name.

CLUB QUINTET HANDS DEFEAT TO DRUGGISTS

Local Players Run Up Early Lead To Down Visitors By 32 To 26 Score.

The Fountain Drugs basketball squad was unable to stop the C. A. C. quintet in a game that was as thrilling as it was expected to be when these two teams met on the C. A. C. court Wednesday night.

The Drugs representatives started the fireworks with a field goal which they closely followed with a second one. Merriman then started the ball to rolling for the C. A. C. boys with a free throw point. Then with lightning like precision the home boys dropped in two field goals which score was added to a free throw by Parks and thus ended the first quarter with the C. A. C. on the long end of the 6 to 4 score.

The club boys started the second quarter with a bang and ran the score up to 12-4 before the visitors could get their hands on the ball. This quarter was by far the fastest and most interesting period of the game and closed the first half with the club leading the Drugs by an 18 to 9 score.

The second half produced a change of pace for both teams. First one team then the other broke through for points with the visitors getting a three point margin over the home team for the half. But at no time during the last three quarters did they become dangerous as the club team had secured a very substantial lead that the Drugs had no prospects of overtaking.

All the C. A. C. boys contributed a share of points to the score

WEIGHT LIFTER WAS STRICKEN; FINDS HEALTH

Veteran Car Inspector for Pennsylvania Lines Lauds Powers Of The New Konjola

MR. ALBERT J. ANDERSON.

The remarkable health-restoring powers of Konjola, the new medicine, are demonstrated daily by its triumphs over those stubborn cases that have baffled all efforts for relief.

A striking example of the super-merits of Konjola is found in the statement of Mr. Albert J. Anderson, 9½ Spencer street, Ashtabula, Ohio, formerly a professional weight-lifter of amazing strength. In 1911 his health failed. He said:

"In 1911 I was stricken with indigestion, neuritis and affection of the sciatic nerve. I tried everything, and nothing helped me. I was about to give up hope, when Konjola was recommended by a fellow-employee, who urged me not to delay a day in starting on Konjola. From the very start of the treatment I had results, and as the days passed the indigestion disappeared, the neuritis pains grew fainter, the sciatic nerve was normal again, and today I am in perfect health. No one can realize what this recovery meant to a man who was so strong some years ago that he thought he never could take ill. Konjola is little short of wonderful, for it took just three bottles of this amazing medicine to end disease that held me in its clutches for seventeen years."

Konjola is sold in Circleville, O., at Mykranitz Pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

as did also all the members of the visiting squad.

WILD RIDES AND ESCAPES

Wild rides and hairbreadth escapes, one of the most thrilling battle scenes ever filmed in pictures, and the spectacular blowing up of an arsenal are among the thrills and sensations in which is set one of the screen's tenderest love stories. This is the combination of excitement and heart-thrills in "Morgan's Last Raid," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular Civil war romance which will open at the Metropolitan theater Friday.

McCoy plays a young Southern officer, riding with Morgan, the raider, in his sensational exploits, with Dorothy Sebastian as the Northern girl he loves but sacrifices for his beloved South, and with whom he is reunited after an amazing plot.

Comedy is injected through the work of Hank Mann, famous comedian, who plays Tex, the laughable companion of the hero of the tale.

The complications that ensue when a rough-and-ready railroad workman falls in love with a dainty chorus girl provide the beginning of an interesting plot in "The Crash" which is the current attraction at the Cliftona theatre. Milton Sills is the railroad man, Thelma Todd is the show girl.

TIGERS WILL TAKE TRIP TO WILMINGTON

Circleville High School Captains Hope For Victory In League Game.

The C. H. S. Tigers will play their second game of the South Central Ohio league, Friday evening, when they move to Wilmington.

The Wilmington team is nothing to write home about this year, according to newspapers from that vicinity. Hillsboro which defeated Circleville last week, is a much better team.

If dope has anything to do with this game which is to be staged Friday, Circleville has a good chance to defeat Wilmington.

Miss Rains and her covey of basketballers meet Lancaster and if they play as they have played Fairfield-co will know someone has been there.

As to the county games, it is hard to keep track of many of the teams. Due to sickness in some sections of the county games are cancelled while others are scheduled, and on Friday afternoon some change their minds.

Saltcreek-twip, the champions of Pickaway-co so far this season is due for a war with Walnut, Friday night at Walnut.

This game will probably be the best played in the county Friday, as the hill boys are scooping victories on all sides.

"Lucky is a marvelous pal—the toasted flavor overcomes a craving for foods which add weight."

Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.

George M. Cohan, America's Stage Favorite

NO longer need a trim, slender figure be your envy. No longer need you face the rigid requirements of harsh dieting methods. Overweight is banished when you banish fattening sweets and eating between meals and light a Lucky. "Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet."

20,679 physicians have confirmed the fact that Lucky Strike is less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes. These professional men realize the value of soothing, the secret process that eliminates impurities and irritants. Lucky Strike is a delightful blend of the world's finest tobaccos. And soothing develops a flavor which is a delightful alternative for fattening sweets.

Many prominent athletes testify that Lucky steady their nerves and do not harm their physical condition. Men have long known this and practiced it successfully. These are the men who value their health, who keep trim and fit, realizing the dangers of overweight. And now, women may enjoy a companionable smoke with their husbands and brothers—at the same time slenderizing in a sensible manner. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say:—

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

ASPIRIN

To break a cold harmlessly and in a hurry try a Bayer Aspirin tablet. And for headache. The action of Aspirin is very efficient; too, in cases of neuralgia, neuritis, even rheumatism and lumbago. And there's no after effect; doctors give Aspirin to children—often infants. Whenever there's pain, think of Aspirin. The genuine Bayer Aspirin has Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monroeville, Pa., of Salzwedel.

TEN YEARS OF MISERY ENDED BY HOYT'S COMPOUND

Clarksburg, O., Man Says "Hoyt's Was Just What I Needed."

"Hoyt's Compound certainly ended ten long years of suffering for me," declared Mr. J. H. Johnson, widely known resident of Clarksburg, O. This is the famous prescription of nature's finest medicinal juices that is now being introduced every day at Wilder's Drug Store, Circleville, O.

MR. J. H. JOHNSON

Mr. Johnson, who is 65 years of age and works as a laborer, has been a resident of Clarksburg, O., practically all of his life and has been afflicted for 10 years with rheumatism which settled in his arms and legs and caused him to suffer extremely day and night. His bowels were very irregular and he also suffered from sluggish kidneys and stomach gas. In fact Mr. Johnson was almost a physical wreck when he began the Hoyt treatment. Mr. Johnson states: "I have been a resident here in Clarksburg, O., nearly all of my life. Was employed as a laborer and finally had to give this up about 10 years ago when I was afflicted with rheumatism which settled in my arms and legs and caused me to suffer terribly day and night. My stomach was in a terrible condition due to gas pains. Kidneys were very sluggish and also had heart trouble at times, which would make it very serious to me to work at all. We take the Chillicothe paper here and through this paper I began learning about the Hoyt's Compound which was helping so many people in Chillicothe and nearby towns. After studying about this medicine I finally decided on taking a treatment to see if these statements I had been reading were true. I certainly am glad that I started this treatment. I have never felt better in the last 10 years than I feel now. After taking only three bottles of Hoyt's my condition has improved wonderfully and during the past fall and winter have been able to work nearly every day hushing corn. I am seldom troubled with a rheumatic pain and my stomach and kidneys are like new. These three bottles of Hoyt's Compound have certainly been worth their money to me and I intend to keep a bottle of it handy all the time." Hoyt's Compound is being introduced and explained daily at Wilder's Drug Store, Circleville, O.

Fresh Vegetables By the Bottle!

HERE are valuable dietary qualities in vegetables, but not all of us get enough fresh vegetables, and one soon tires of a vegetable diet. A simple way to remedy this is to get a little syrup pepsin. Take a spoonful occasionally and you stimulate the inner system. Your keener appetite, and perfect assimilation of whatever you eat will soon show you are on the right track! Your elimination will become more thorough and regular. So, don't give up things you like to eat; or eat a lot of other things because you "ought to." The syrup pepsin can establish that perfect balance without dieting. And how pure syrup pepsin tones the stomach, liver, and bowels! You'll soon discover you can eat anything. Your chronic, recurring constipation spells will disappear. A person who will take this simple precaution will go month after month without need of the powerful purges so frequently needed in the past.

Try this wonderful vegetable product. Dr. Caldwell first used it in 1875. Today, you cannot name a druggist who hasn't this famous prescription always on hand, all put up, directions enclosed. Nothing is so wonderful for children, too; it is an ideal combination of laxative herbs and pure pepsin that just about insures the health of young or old.

HEROISM

It would be a stony heart that did not bleed at the story of the great sacrifice made on the altar of friendship by a nameless patron of a St. Louis speakeasy recently.

This man was standing at the bar and had just laid two dollars on the counter to pay for his drinks when federal officers entered. They asked him what the money was for. The patron thought fast.

"I was just buying sandwiches," he explained.

The officers, in surprise, asked if he bought two dollars' worth at a time. He said that he did—it was a peculiarity of his, but he liked his sandwiches in bulk. So the bartender gave him two dollars' worth of sandwiches, and he manfully struggled to eat them, while the officers looked on.

After he had downed 13 the man gave up. But his sacrifice was in vain. The officers searched the place, found some whisky and arrested the proprietor anyhow.

But, surely, no man can do more for a friend than eat 13 sandwiches that he doesn't want.

OBEYING THE CONSTITUTION

You might keep a careful eye on Congress during the next few days to see just what it does with the Fenn re-apportionment measure.

During the past presidential campaign we had a great deal of talk about the necessity of obeying our constitution. The Fenn bill provides an excellent test to see whether the people who praised the constitution so loudly are now willing to live up to its provisions. The constitution requires re-apportionment; a congressman who votes against the Fenn bill has little license to call other parts of the constitution sacrosanct.

There is no real, valid argument against the Fenn bill. Its ultimate fate will be a good measure of the integrity and conscientiousness of Congress.

ECONOMY TO THE LAST

Peaks of Desire by Kane O'Day

CHAPTER I

ANN struggled with herself to remain calm, but she was conscious of an increased beat of her pulse, a stimulated excitement at Steve's arrival. Sharply, she was irritated at herself—it was humiliating to be so stirred by any man. She felt like a fool.

Steve left the box office window and came down to the partly opened door leading into Nick Pagalos' private office.

The Greek looked up from the desk at which he sat arranging the night's receipts into stacks of paper money and little columns of silver. "Hello, Harrison," Pagalos said casually.

"Hello," Ann looked at Steve but did not presume to invite him into her employer's office. With difficulty she brought her eyes to bear upon Steve, for she wanted somehow to avoid his gaze. Even so, with the swift lightning she detected an indefinable alteration in his manner, a suppressed cynicism of voice and bearing.

"You'll have to wait awhile because I'll be busy for another half hour," he said. "I'm working on the books."

"I'll stick around," he said briefly, and she heard him moving across the lobby toward the outer door.

Pagalos raised his head and looked after the departing figure, then looked at Ann. "What's the matter with him—what's he sore about?"

"I don't know—it doesn't matter."

"I ain't crazy about having him hang around here," Pagalos said. "Not after he beat me up. He ain't the greatest guy on earth for you to be running around with—a girl like you."

Ann did not reply but she felt Pagalos was right. Whatever part Steve had in her private life, he certainly had no business appearing with a thinly disguised surliness where she worked.

Before she had finished her task, Hollingswood, the stage director, dropped in for a talk with Pagalos. She had never liked the shoddy-looking director with his hard eyes and his cruel repressed mouth. His hands affected her unpleasantly, too—they were gnarled and the fingers were long and greedy. As quickly as possible she closed up the books and left.

"I've been waiting for you," Steve said.

His face was white and strained. There was antagonism in his voice and confusion, too. In her own mind Ann knew he was waiting for an explanation of the morning's scene when he had observed her coming out of Jerry's room.

"I know what you want," she said with a smile. "You want me to convince you that I'm not a bad girl."

He surprised her with his brutal abruptness. "I don't give a damn for explanations. I come to tell you goodbye."

"I come to tell you goodbye," he went on harshly, "and to let you know that I'm through with the whole business. You made a sucker out of me and I'm through."

His words fell upon her like blows and she was conscious of an inflamed pain. She had never been so tongue-tied in her life. There was much she felt duty bound to say to him but the tightness in her throat made speech difficult.

"Well, don't you want to hear what I have to say?" she asked at the end of a silence.

"What could you say that would make a difference to me now?" he asked. "Anyway it's none of my business what you do. I just wanted to see you once more before I cleared out of this town for good. I sold my interest in the truck today and I'm hitting the road."

"What are you going to do?" she asked aimlessly.

A harsh sound, like the parody of a laugh came from his throat. "I guess it don't matter what I do. I'm not so particular now—anything goes. You had me all rigged up to make a gentleman out of myself and what a laugh that turned out to be! I thought I was being lifted up out of myself but thank God I got wise in time. You, I thought you were different from all other girls. You had me hopped up all right. I believed in you and then you pulled a thing like that."

He fell into a moody silence and Ann hated herself for not resenting his bitterness. He was totally without justification in his attitude but the power was lacking in her to argue with him or free herself of his company immediately.

An invisible magnetic ray held her beside him as they walked along. An attraction existed which dumbfounded her. With Jerry or with any other man alive she would have found her tongue readily enough but when she tried to speak to him, disorganization crept through her.

"You're all wrong . . . all wrong . . ."

"What I can't understand," he said raspingly, "is why you wanted to play around with me. It must have been just a game with you. You must have played around just because I was a big sap and it gave you a laugh to make a monkey out of me."

"I went around with you because I really wanted to," she said feebly.

"You don't know who you want," he retorted. "Sometimes you wanted to be with me and that Jerry Dunn. The trouble with me is that I took you seriously. I thought you were the sweetest girl on earth and I tried to treat you that way. I built up my hopes on you. I tried to make a man out of myself for your sake—and then I find you coming out of another guy's room in the morning."

"You won't let me explain," Ann protested.

"I don't want to hear any more lies," he told her. "What's the good of it? You'd tell me some yarn and expect me to believe it. Maybe it isn't as bad as it looked but all the same a girl that's on the up and up don't do things like that. You can't square it with me ever."

Ann was trembling all over. "You'll have to make your own decision," she said.

"I've already made it. From now on I'm not going to swallow any bunk from anybody. What's the good of my trying to be a good square guy when the one person on earth I trusted turned out wrong? You think I'm jealous, don't you?"

"No."

"Well, I'm not jealous. I'm sore—clean through. I'm disgusted. You're not even being on the square with that fellow Dunn—if you was, you wouldn't have been monkeying around with me the way we have been doing. You've been taking him for a buggy-ride too and maybe a lot of others. Well, I'm going to do some buggy-riding myself in the future and the sky's the limit."

Ann knew suddenly why she was drawn to Steve, why she gave more of her time and thoughts to him. It was because of Steve's helplessness in the combat with life. For all his physical strength he was pitifully weak and she had yearned to protect him, as a mother might protect a faltering child. His physical appeal had been a by-product of that emotion. The truth, as she saw it, was that Jerry Dunn did not need her. And Steve did need her . . . desperately.

STOP THIS CRIMINAL

Of all the culprits who ply the trade of crime, the arsonist is to be most despised. His victims have been legion. To gain dishonest dollars for himself the arsonist will sacrifice the life of others and imperil property of untold value.

But the hand of the law is fairly certain now to seize this criminal. Detection and punishment have been brought to such a high percentage of success that he has small chance of escape. The Arson Squad generally gets its man!

The Stock Fire Insurance companies, through the National Board of Fire Underwriters and its Arson Committee, wage relentless war against the arsonist.

Squads of trained men work quietly and without noise or show, in co-operation with legal authorities, in every state of the Union, to guard the people of America against this crime of arson and the practice of incendiarism by pyromaniacs and other irresponsible persons.

The results have been gratifying, and will be even more so when the American people realize the menace and cost of incendiary fires.

This is but one of many measures employed by the Stock Fire Insurance companies in the elimination of fire hazards—the conservation of life and property. The Arson Squad works constantly with police, fire marshals, fire departments and other officials.

Before she had finished her last, Hollingswood, the stage director dropped in for a talk with Pagalos. She had never liked the shoddy-looking director with his hard eyes and his cruel repressed mouth. His hands affected her, and the fingers were long and greedy. As quickly as possible she closed up the books and left.

"I've been waiting for you," Steve said.

His face was white and strained. There was antagonism in his voice and confusion, too. In her own mind Ann knew he was waiting for an explanation of the morning's scene when he had observed her coming out of Jerry's room.

"I know what you want," she said with a smile. "You want me to convince you that I'm not a bad girl."

He surprised her with his brutal abruptness. "I don't give a damn for explanations. I come to tell you goodbye."

"She remained silent."

"I come to tell you goodbye," he went on harshly, "and to let you know that I'm through with the whole business. You made a sucker out of me and I'm through."

His words fell upon her like blows and she was conscious of an inflicted pain. She had never been so tongue-tied in her life. There was much she felt duty bound to say to him but the tightness in her throat made speech difficult.

"Well, don't you want to hear what I have to say?" she asked at the end of a silence.

"What could you say that would make a difference to me now?" he asked. "Anyway it's none of my business what you do. I just wanted to see you once more and walk home with you once more before I cleared out of this town for good. I sold my interest in the truck today and I'm hitting the road."

"What are you going to do?" she asked aimlessly.

A harsh sound, like the parody of a laugh came from his throat. "I guess it doesn't matter what I do. I'm not so particular now—I do anything goes. You had me all rigged up to make a gentleman out of myself and what a laugh that turned out to be! I thought I was being lifted up out of myself but thank God I got wise in time. You, I thought you were different from all other girls. You had me hooked up all right. I believed in you and then you pulled a thing like that."

He fell into a moody silence and Ann hated herself for not resenting his bitterness. He was totally without justification in his attitude but the power was lacking in her to argue with him or free herself of his company immediately. An invisible magnetic ray held her beside him as they walked along. An attraction existed which dumbfounded her. What had Jerry or what any other man alive she would have found her tongue readily enough but when she tried to speak to him, disorganization crept through her.

"You're all wrong . . . all wrong . . ."

"What I can't understand," he said roughly, "is why you wanted to play around with me. It must have been just a game with you. You must have played around just because I was a big sap and it gave you a laugh to make a monkey out of me."

"I went around with you because I really wanted to," she said feebly.

"You don't know who you want," he retorted. "Sometimes you wanted to be with me and sometimes you wanted to be with that Jerry Dunn. The trouble with me is that I took you seriously. I thought you was the sweetest girl on earth and I tried to treat you that way. I built up my hopes on you. I tried to make a man out of myself for your sake—and then I find you coming out of another guy's room in the morning."

"You won't let me explain," Ann protested.

"I don't want to hear any more lies," he told her. "What's the good of it? You'd tell me some yarn and expect me to believe it. Maybe it isn't as bad as it looked but all the same a girl that's on the up and up don't do things like that. You can't square it with me ever."

Ann was trembling all over. "You'll have to make your own decision," she said.

"I've already made it. From now on I'm not going to swallow any bunk from anybody. What's the good of my trying to be a square guy when the one person on earth I trusted turned out wrong? You think I'm jealous, don't you?"

"No."

"Well, I'm not jealous. I'm sore—clean through. I'm disgusted. You're not even being on the square with that fellow Dunn—if you was, you wouldn't have been monkeying around with me the way we have been doing. You've been taking him for a buggy-ride too and maybe a lot of others. Well, I'm going to do some buggy-riding myself in the future and the sky's the limit."

Ann knew suddenly why she was drawn to Steve. Why she gave more of her time and thoughts to him. It was because of Steve's helplessness in the combat with life. For all his physical strength he was pitifully weak and she had yearned to protect him, as a mother might protect a faltering child. His physical appeal had been a by-product of that emotion. The truth, as she saw it, was that Jerry Dunn did need her.

And Steve did need her.

STOP THIS CRIMINAL
Of all the culprits who ply the trade of crime, the arsonist is to be most despised. His victims have been legion. To gain dishonest dollars for himself the arsonist will sacrifice the life of others and imperil property of untold value.
But the hand of the law is fairly certain now to seize this criminal. Detection and punishment have been brought to such a high percentage of success that he has small chance of escape. The Arson Squad generally gets its man!
The Stock Fire Insurance companies, through the National Board of Fire Underwriters and its Arson Committee, wage relentless war against the arsonist.
Squads of trained men work quietly and without noise or show, in co-operation with legal authorities, in every state of the Union, to guard the people of America against this crime of arson and the practice of incendiarism by pyromaniacs and other irresponsible persons.
The results have been gratifying, and will be even more so when the American people realize the menace and cost of incendiary fires.
This is but one of many measures employed by the Stock Fire Insurance companies in the elimination of fire hazards—the conservation of life and property. The Arson Squad works constantly with police, fire marshals, fire departments and other officials.

OHIO FARMERS TO VISIT UNIVERSITY

Thousands Expected To Attend Farmers' Week At O. S. U. Feb. 4 To 8.

When Ohio farmers and members of their families assemble, they will attract others interested in agriculture, from a territory with a wide radius. At last year's Farmers' Week on the campus of the Ohio State University at Columbus, 6,702 persons were present. They came from every county in the state, and 76 of them were from outside the state. Of the number attending, 4,746 were men and 1,956 were women.

Officials of the University expect this year's attendance at the 17th annual Farmers' Week, Feb. 4 to 8, to show an increase over that of last year.

From this county 199 persons attended Farmers' Week last year. It is believed that 250 will register in Columbus this year.

Advance programs sent out by the university show 380 events for the week, with 244 speakers. Addresses, demonstrations, general discussions, business meetings, lunches and banquets are among the events scheduled. Men and women of national prominence are on the speakers' list.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Clement and children, Mary and George, attended the funeral of Mr. Clement's father in Columbus last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Stonerock and daughter, Dorothy Marie, of Dayton, spent Sunday with Harry Stonerock and family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Wright of Circleville came over Sunday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tarbill and enjoyed a birthday dinner with their little granddaughter, Gala Tarbill.

The date of the P. T. A. has been changed to Wednesday night Jan. 23.

Boyish Form Is Passe As Curves Gain Style Okay

Frills, Bright Colors and Long Hair Are Milady's Modes For Spring.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The slim, boyish form is passe.

Advance displays of what the American girl will wear six weeks from now, as staged today by the garment retailers of America, indicate that the slender, straight silhouette is to be supplanted by an outline that gives a bit more publicity to the curves of the wearer.

Mannequins, many of them with long hair or puffs—another departure—paraded in new creations that showed that the dominant note of women's apparel when the warm weather sets in will be femininity, frills, modernistic trimmings in embroidered and other effects, and bright, feminine colors were much in evidence.

Two thousand retailers from all parts of the country, who are stocking up with these new gowns nodded approval of the 1929 models. They are very distinctive and in line with the trend away from the "jazz age."

The 1929 American girl will not, however, resemble grandma in her hey-day. The new gowns haven't the slightest suggestion of that get up of the mutton chop sleeve, the bustle and the expanse of silhouette that made for that old, familiar "hour glass shape." Not that. Instead, the tendency is to get away from masculinity in women's dress and severity in styles that have cut down manufacturers' profits in recent years.

Bright colors will be another new departure. For new colors are to be introduced: Bonnie blue, a lustrous dark blue; fandang, burnt orange; foliage, almond green, and rosalid, rose beige. Last year American women did not go in much for colors, what with the masculine styles featuring herring bones, mannish tweeds and other conservative patterns.

The 1929 creations, in the opinion of the assembled garment retailers, are "sure to go over big" because they are a distinct departure, alluringly feminine and provide variety that will enable the fair sex to stress personality.

Eat What You Want

When the food you eat goes into your acid-soaked stomach, it sours and back digest, makes foul gas and sour bile. The blood takes these poisonous acids and carries them through the body. Naturally it makes you miserable and despondent, because your system is not nourished—you lose weight. Pope's Digestive dissolves the acids and sweetens the stomach. It digests the food; no more sour bile is taken up by the blood. Your appetite is like a youngster's again, and gradually you get back your health, flesh and energy. Chew a tablet of two of Pope's Digestive after meals. It tastes good and relieves the misery of indigestion in five minutes. It will keep your stomach young and vigorous so you can eat anything you want without being afraid of the consequences.

HOW TO FIGHT
EXCESS FAT

There are hard ways, like starvation, but fewer and fewer employ them. There is a pleasant way, modern and scientific, which combats the cause. A vast number of people now use it. And the slender figures now seen everywhere are largely due to that.

That method is embodied in Marmola's prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And everybody, in almost every circle, sees the change. New beauty, new health, new vitality.

Each box of Marmola's contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So users have no fear of harm. Learn the facts about Marmola's, because of the good it has done. Ask your druggist—now—for a $1 box with the book. Then decide.
